

Welcome

Welcome to the first newsletter for the Paediatric Clinical Network. In each issue we hope to provide updates on the work of the network as well as items of interest to paediatric health services and consumers. This issue includes links to some useful websites and a story around one regional paediatric ward and how it is developing a more child friendly environment and child centred care.

Two new Paediatric Clinical Leads

Mr Chris Kimber and Assoc Prof Jill Sewell

We are pleased to announce that we have appointed two people to share the role of Paediatric Clinical Lead. They are Associate Professor Jill Sewell from the Royal Children's Hospital (RCH) and Mr Chris Kimber from Southern Health. We are fortunate that we have two tertiary paediatric hospitals represented and Jill and Chris both have long histories and experience in paediatrics.

Jill Sewell is currently Associate Professor and Deputy Director of the Centre for Community Child Health at the RCH and in the past has been President of the Royal Australasian College of Physicians (RACP) amongst many other roles. Mr Chris Kimber is a paediatric surgeon specialising in Urology and is currently Head of Paediatric Surgery at Monash Medical Centre and Head of Paediatric Urology at Southern Health. He has led innovative programs in outpatient reform and been involved in many other patient-centred initiatives. Both have been leaders in forging change in paediatric health service delivery in Victoria and so we very warmly welcome them both.

The next step in setting up the network will be to draw together the Paediatric Leadership Group. Expressions of Interest will be circulated to all Victorian Health Services and we hope to garner a broadly representative group that can reflect the needs of the many and various stakeholders. The leadership group will meet bi-monthly and steer the network as it tackles the issues facing paediatrics in Victoria.

Strategic Framework for Paediatric Health Services in Victoria

Following stakeholder forums in February the discussion paper Strategic Framework for Paediatric Health Services in Victoria was updated to reflect and include stakeholder feedback and suggestions.

The final copy is available to download at www.health.vic.gov.au/clinicalnetworks/paediatric Printed copies will be distributed to all health services shortly.

Vulnerable Children in Acute Health project

The role of health practitioners in the care and protection of children at risk of abuse and neglect is often not clearly understood. Health practitioners are frequently the first point of contact for vulnerable families and it is vital that practitioners have the confidence to respond appropriately and work together with child protection and family support services to meet the needs of these children.

A new interactive on line education resource is now available. The education resource has been developed to assist health practitioners in understanding their role and responsibility to vulnerable children. This resource includes topics such as:

- identifying vulnerable children
- diminished parental capacity
- recording information in the patient file
- mandatory reporting requirements
- sharing information
- role of child protection and Child FIRST.

The resource "Health Professionals Working Together to Keep Children Safe" is an excellent, accessible education tool that should form part of the ongoing education and training for all health practitioners who care for vulnerable children or their parents. The resource is available at www.vfpms.org.au.

Bendigo Base Hospital Paediatric Ward news

Bendigo Health introduced the concept of the 'Sanctuary for Kids' project close to two years ago with the aim of creating a child friendly environment throughout Bendigo Health. The first stage of the project – the refurbishment of the Child and Adolescent unit - was carried out over the Christmas period.

This included updating furniture, installing waiting and play rooms for children, purchasing new medical equipment and providing the nursing staff with training to use this new technology.

Some improvements to the Child and Adolescent unit include:

- The unit itself is brighter and less cluttered more storage facilities and a more modern appearance.
- Improved infection control particularly in the babies' area where there were concerns about cross infection and noise control.

- Improved privacy and security for patients. The unit is now locked 24hours and CCTV is used as security above each bed and used to screen visitors on arrival.
- Improved parents retreat, en-suite and more comfortable beds and chairs for overnight stays with their children.
- Built-in all weather play room and play equipment.
- Better IT resources for staff.
- A private meeting room for children, families, doctors and staff.

Future planned improvements at Bendigo Health include the paediatric outpatient clinics, Emergency Department and the Special Care Baby Unit.

Should any other paediatric wards be planning changes, updating or refurbishing their facilities, a useful guide is the Royal Australasian College of Physicians Standards for the care of children and adolescents in health services which was published in December 2008.

Healthy Eating for children

We are all aware of the need for children to have a healthy diet and this becomes even more important for paediatric patients. Changes in diet and lifestyle can have very positive effects for ill children and also those who are overweight or obese and at risk of serious illness such as diabetes.
