Keep sharp things up high and locked away
KEY MESSAGE
Sharp items can seriously injure a child and should be stored up high and locked away

Getting started
■ How could these items injure a child?
■ Where do you keep your sharp things?

Activities
■ Assist with identification of appropriate storage if required
■ Assist with selection of sharp items to be put away safely
■ List other items in the home that could cause a cut to a child. Consider broken glass, glass in doors and windows, other tools and kitchen items

Safety tip
■ Use stickers to make glass in doors more visible to children and reduce the risk of them walking or running into it
