

Services designed with you in mind

Women's Health Clinics are located across Victoria and provide women, girls and gender diverse people access to specialist care for a range of women's health conditions and concerns.

This can include endometriosis, pelvic pain, heavy menstrual bleeding, prolapse and incontinence, abortion, contraception and menopause services.

Services at Women's Health Clinics are delivered by teams of health professionals which can include gynaecologists, urologists, specialist nursing and allied health support.

Services are usually free, and a referral is needed from your GP or healthcare professional.
